AN editor of a certain newspaper of this State was married not long ago. A sum of free-fall fight occurred near Blue Licks recently between two negro families. Shawhan one of the participants was shot and fatally wounded and Snelling his assailant had his skull fractured. The wife of one was cut with a razor and the other's wife had an arm broken. All the parties are in such a serious condition that no arrests have yet been made. The cause of the trouble is attributed to jealousy.

"Forewarned is Forearmed."

The gone-over weather prophet, according to the Clark County Democrat, diagnoses the weather for this winter as follows: "The winter as a whole will be rather a mild one, the first very cold weather coming early in December, while the extreme cold weather may be looked for during the first half of January. Considerable snows and heavy river floods may be expected. The running streams will be frozen but very few days during the winter, and indications are that a good wheat year will follow."

The "Innocent Kid."

One of the leading characters in "A Parlor Match," which appears here tomorrow night is Miss Jennie Yeaman. The New York Tribune has the following to say of her:

"One of the principal parts in "Parlor Match," which has made a great stir in New Haven, is played by Jennie Yeaman, certainly one of the prettiest and most talented girls on the stage. She is a young woman of twenty, her mother for years having been the manager of a school for girls, and her mother and daughter excellently, and her acting is far superior to a great many of the girls in New Haven. She is a large audience in attendance nightly at the Grand Opera House. The "Parlor Match" is comprised of a series of comedy scenes, and the plot is as follows: There would not be much in the play, but it is enlivened infinitely, and the more so because of Miss Yeaman's more than like her."

What is a Corpse?

One of the smallest things on earth, it is a little disc, oval in shape and not the three-thousandth part of an inch in length. The corpuses give to the blood its bright red color. This color they owe to the iron that is in them. Without your blood would be so pale and thin as to be of no account. Iron enriches it and gives you vitality. The only reliable preparation of iron for a loss of blood is Brown's Iron Bitter, which does wonders for the failing and debilitated. Buy this valuable tonic of your druggist.
